

Research Highlights (Required)

To create your highlights, please type the highlights against each `\item` command.

It should be short collection of bullet points that convey the core findings of the article. It should include 3 to 5 bullet points (maximum 85 characters, including spaces, per bullet point.)

- Offers correction method for ground truth creation from fused continuous annotations
- Compares proposed method to state-of-the-art approaches where truth is known
- Empirically analyzes robustness of proposed method to errors and sparsity
-
-